

Wolfgang Heikamp, Dr. Ing.
Mann + Hummel,
markus.kolczyk@mann-hummel.com
+49 (6232) 53 8105

Wolfgang Heikamp received his Diploma in Engineering from the University of Aachen, Germany.

After a few years as a development engineer for liquid – liquid – coalescer he moved to a company, which produce microfiltration unit as a project engineer.

Since 1999 he is responsible for the development and design of air – oil separation unit for compressors and crankcase ventilation systems at MANN+HUMMEL GMBH.

He gave different presentations on coalescence air-liquid and liquid-liquid at AFS, WFC, EFCE, GVC, VDI and Dechema and other conferences.

He has published a lot of technical papers, and holds US, European and World patents.