

Session Title: Advance in Filtration Media
Session Chair: K-J Choi

Nanofiber Production Techniques for Filtration Applications

by

John F Hagewood, PhD
Senior Consultant
Hills, Inc.

Abstract: A number of different techniques that are presently being used to produce nanofibers webs for filtration applications are discussed. These techniques include electrospinning, melt blowing and fiber splitting systems. The equipment and fundamental know how behind each of these techniques is explained along with the advantages and difficulties of each.

John Hagewood [john@jhagewood.com]